

CONNECTING UP

To support Australian and New Zealand not-for-profits in building stronger communities through the use of technology.

Save money and deliver your mission more effectively with donated and discounted technology products.

Infoxchange, via Connecting Up, is the Australian and New Zealand partner of TechSoup, a worldwide technology donations program providing eligible organisations with discounted software, hardware and related services.

To access the benefits, organisations just need to sign up as a Connecting Up member and register their organisation for the program. Membership is free, and once our team verifies your organisation, you can start accessing technology donations and discounts within days.
